

IDENTIFIES SUSPECTS AS MEN WHO ROBBED TRAIN OF $40,000

Harry Melville, the Postal clerk, says Perry is Man Who Stopped Him When He Refused to Give Up Money.

$6,000 REWARD OFFERED FOR ARREST OF BANDITS

East Point Watchman Identifies Fields and Perry as Suspects He Arrested After Depot Safe Was Looted.

Harry B. Melville, the Postal clerk on the Queen and Crescent southbound train No. 1, running from Cincinnati to New Orleans, which was robbed near Birmingham of $40,000 on the night of February 19, arrived in Atlanta Friday afternoon, and identified A. O. Perry, one of the three alleged bandits, who were arrested Monday morning at No. 49 Street at East Point, by Sergeant George Bullard and Plainclothes Man Shaw, as the train bandit who stabbed him in the back with a knife when he refused to tell the gang of robbers where all the money in the mail car was hidden.

W. B. Gray, alias "Doc" Melville, alias William Gray, and Stafford Fields, were partially identified as members of the gang of train robbers. Along with six other white prisoners, the three suspects were lined up, and Melville, on entering the room, proceeded immediately toward Perry, and picked him out as the man who stabbed him. He then picked out Perry after he had been lined up, and was positive about identifying them.

Perry Became Nervous. When Perry saw Melville enter the prison cell he became very nervous. He was picked up by an official, presented, Fields and Gray showed signs of uneasiness when Melville began to approach them.

From Oliver, night watchman at the East Point yards of the Atlanta and West Point and the East Point and West Point yards, identified Fields and Perry Thursday morning as the two men who stole a $40,000 mail car from the safe in the depot on the night of February 19. Oliver said he knew nothing of Gray. He said that on the night he was beaten by Fields and Perry after he had been lined up together, and overcame by them, when they stole the safe. He said that he and made good their escape.

Fields was identified Thursday morning by a doctor at the hospital as the man who punched with his revolver that since he was arrested as one of the two belonging to John Nolan, the train bandit who was arrested Thursday afternoon in Marietta, for robbing the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis train at Virginia, Ga.

The three alleged bandits, who have been living at 89 Brookline, were arrested by the police on the night of February 19. They were arrested early Monday morning, following the safe-blowing at Griffin, Ga., Saturday night. The officers were searching the premises of the robbers, when they discovered the safe in the basement of the house a complete set of weapons.

Since that date the United States marshal's inspectors have been working on the Birmingham robbery; they have been looking for the bandits with the Queen and Crescent robbery.

Known John Nolan. The officers who are the suspects in the James, who was arrested at the police headquarters Friday afternoon and stated that it was he who had robbed the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis train at Virginia, the night of January 14. He will be passengers of the train to identify Perry, he stated, and then a new trial for Nolan, who was sentenced to twenty years for the robbery of $40,000 was offered for arrest of the gang who robbed the Queen and Crescent train, and if the suspects now held are convicted, Sergeant Bullard and his partner, Shaw, expect to claim the reward for the capture.

Melville told the story of the robbery, stating that the robbers had released themselves in the mail car, and suddenly covered him with pistols. When he was looking for the mail car, he stated that he threw a $5,000 package of bills over into a mail pouch for concealment. The robbers then began to do this, and demanded that he tell where he had hidden the money. He refused, Perry said, "Well, let's kill him," and ran a knife into his back, according to Melville. Melville stated that one of the robbers, the one who was taken in the mail car, was taken to be a criminal, and remonstrated with Perry, trying to keep him from killing him.

Birmingham Wants Suspects. The Birmingham police department is anxious to have the three suspects brought to Birmingham for preliminary hearing. The case will go to the grand jury because of the robbery of the mail car. The case will be taken in the state court, and the three suspects will be taken to the state court.

CONTAGION SWEEPS NEGRO ORPHANAGE; MANY CHILDREN ILL

Six Colored Babies Lie in Illy-Ventilated Room at Carrie Steel Logan Home on Fair Street.

ALREADY THREE DEATHS HAVE OCCURRED THERE

Dysphtheria, Pneumonia, and Malnutrition the Cause—Conditions Prove Necessity of Greater Hospital.

Conditions bordering upon the unbelievable and at once emphatically emphasizing Atlanta's need for a hospital, equipped to take care of the growing population, were unearthed last Friday in the Carrie Steel Logan home, a colored orphanage, at 181 Fair street.

Six colored babies lie in one ill-ventilated room in that structure, two of them mortally sick. Two doctors have been called to the home, and one of them has said that the children are suffering from dysphtheria, pneumonia, and malnutrition have caused the epidemic of disease, which has in the past week caused the death of three of the orphans who have been kept at the home.

No Money From County. A visit to the home last Friday afternoon disclosed the fact that the orphanage was in a state of financial straits. The city makes an allowance of $100 per month for maintenance. Up to the first of the present year the county also made an allowance for the support of the home, but this allowance has been cut off. The orphanage has received no salary since that time. The children are served two meals a day—breakfast and dinner, at noon. The 6 o'clock meal consists of crackers.

TROOPS ARE KEPT IN READINESS FOR CRISIS IN IRELAND

Clash Between British Soldiers and Volunteer Forces, Aroused Over Home Rule, Is Feared.

LEADERS ON BOTH SIDES TRYING TO KEEP PEACE

"Whatever Happens, We Will See That Law and Order Are Observed," Says Attorney General.

London, March 20.—"War in Ulster" is the startling headline in several London newspapers are displaying in the blackest type.

The government began to dispose of its regular troops in Ireland so they may be in a position to deal with any situation that arises. The army council, some time ago, considered the possibilities of home rule strife and instructed Lieutenant General Sir Arthur Henry Pitt Rivers, who commands the Irish garrisons, to take necessary precautions to maintain order and safeguard property. A general redistribution of forces in Ireland, therefore, was begun today.

Two regiments were sent from the south to Ulster. The troops were moved to new stations in conformity with the custom that in the event of trouble soldiers will not have to encounter the possibility of home rule strife and friendship. Some Irish recruits were sent from the Armagh recruiting station to England.

Leaders Try Peace. The possibility of a collision between British soldiers and volunteer forces resulting from the superheated political feeling are being met by leaders on both sides are trying to exert a pacific influence. John Redmond, an Irish nationalist, in parliament, today telegraphed nationalists in Belfast an urgent appeal for abstention from any act of violence.

A parade arranged for Sunday in London, Ireland, was intended to show the loyalty of the Irish volunteers. The parade was held in the presence of the British army. The volunteers were armed with rifles and shotguns. The parade was a success, and the volunteers were praised for their loyalty.

Home Rule is a question mainly for Ireland. The British government has been demanding it for years, and we have been hearing of it for years. The British government has been demanding it for years, and we have been hearing of it for years. The British government has been demanding it for years, and we have been hearing of it for years.

The Ulster Volunteers. In view of the political climate, the Ulster Volunteers are in a state of readiness. They are armed with rifles and shotguns. They are in a state of readiness.

Dallas Is Coming to Shrine Convention

Dallas is coming to the Shrine convention, all that part of Dallas entitled to a good, old-fashioned Turkish salsam and wear a red fez. This much was assured Friday, when Dr. Harrison B. Cave, manager of the Shrine Temple, Dallas, C. W. Dugas, captain of the Hells Temple, and C. F. Woods, also of the Hells Temple, made arrangements in Atlanta for the visit of the Shrine of the Sea Temple. The visitors were shown the city by G. C. Dugas, formerly of Hells Temple, and C. W. Ferguson, of Yaarab patrol. The party was royally entertained Friday night by C. L. DuPuy, of Atlanta, formerly of Palestine, Texas.

United Printing Company, with Mr.
J. Counts as manager. The company will operate and do business at the same old stand in the same honest and straightforward way. It will continue to get out work under the new management of the same grade and class.

Mr. Counts is a well known union ter, and knows the business from the case up. The only change in the management will be Mr. Counts' transfer from the mechanical department to the office, where he will have charge of the entire concern.

Mr. Counts is well known in the city, having resided here for the last twenty-five years and worked in various offices as foreman and superindent. He is a good business man, courteous and polite, and all business entrusted to his care will receive prompt and efficient attention. The reputation so well established by the Ward Printing Company will be maintained by the Counts printing concern. Mr. Counts is thoroughly competent, and his work will be of the highest class and beyond criticism.

many friends wish him success in new venture, and we feel sure that will be a credit to the craft. The shop will be run strictly under conditions, and this feature alone would win for him the support of the art and Atlanta merchants and business men. The shop is one of the most modern and up-to-date in the city, it having been recently bought and supplied by the late W. T. Howland. Everything is up-to-date, and all the new faces are one of the latest designs. The business will go on without interruption, the new company having taken over the business and good will of the old company.

The new firm solicits the patronage of the public and guarantees satisfaction in every particular. They will do business under the name of The Countess.
